Taylor Parts Celebrates 60th Anniversary

This month, Taylor Parts & Supply Co., Inc., an automotive wholesaling concern with twelve (12) branch stores, whose main store is located in Andalusia, Alabama, is celebrating its 60th Anniversary.

The Company's founder, the late J. M. Taylor, moved to Andalusia in 1904 to establish and operate a cotton gin for the Southern Cotton Oil Company. During the off season he began a part time business of repairing Gasoline Engines, automobiles and bicycles. It wasn't long until this business began to require his full attention. In 1908 Mr. Taylor resigned his position with Southern Cotton Oil Company and opened his own business under the name of J. M. Taylor Auto Company. Actually, J. M. Taylor Auto Company was the outgrowth of a family tradition of service in the mechanical and transportation fields in South Alabama, dating back to pre-civil war days. Mr. J. M. Taylor was trained as a machinist and blacksmith in a family business that was started by his grandfather.

Respect Power in Windows

Operators of cars with power windows were warned today against leaving unattended children in them because of the risk of injury or death. The Greater New York Safety Council said there have been cases of loss of fingers, broken bones and fingers, and death by strangulation caused by children playing with the power switches.

Edward A. Fitzgerald, director of the traffic and transportation division, said that only a few car models have power windows that cannot be opened when the ignition was in the "off" position.

GOVERNOR ALBERT BREWER HAS PROCLAIMED Saturday, September 7 as Conservation Achievement Awards Day in Alabama, in ceremonies this week in the Governor's Office.

Governor Brewer will be the principal speaker in Montgomery this Saturday as the Alabama Wildlife Federation holds its annual convention, and will present conservation achievement awards to seven Alabamians.

Joining the Governor in signing the proclamation this week were Joe Graham, right, State Convention Director, and Walter M. Cook, left, of Mobile, president of the Wildlife Federation.

Names of the recipients of the conservation awards were announced earlier by the Wildlife Federation. The awards are in seven categories, including Conservation of the Year, Soil Conservation, Water Conservation, Conservation Education, Youth Conservationist, Conservation Communications, and Enforcement.

In addition, six Alabama young men will be given runnerup awards in the Youth Conservationist category.

The awards are given each year as a part of the Governor's Conservation Achievement Program, sponsored through the Wildlife Federation.

IT'S UP TO YOU
The Clergy and Civil Disobedience

CHURCHMEN who engage in civil disobedience demonstrations should take into account the following factors: First, a government of laws, not of men, is the only way to maintain a peaceful society, and using the influence for the destruction of our way of life. Such a government should be substituted for a government of men. A government of man would mean that the church constitution, or, suppose this same form of rebellion should be extended into the framework of the entire denomination. A house divided against itself cannot long endure, and this axiom applies with equal force to a church, a denomination or a government.

Secondly, there is nothing in the language of the First Amendment to the Constitution which grants to any man or group the right to violate any State or Federal law. The First Amendment does guarantee the right of people peacefully to assemble and petition government for redress of grievances, but it does not permit lawlessness, nor does any interpretation of the First Amendment by the U. S. Supreme Court permit it. Recently Kansas District Judge Albert B. Fletcher, Jr., of the 8th Judicial District, asserted: "When individual conscience places out decisions as to what is just or unjust, the result can only be mob rule." He added: "A disorderly society cannot survive. Historically, criminal disobedience in the name of gaining a civil right is the first evidence of a great society's decay."

Any worthy clergyman should be sufficiently conversant with history, with the realities of his man nature and of modern free society to realize that his participation in civil disobedience activities, tending as it does to imply that God sanctions mob rule, is both a betrayal of the cause of Christ and a symptom of the moral decay of man and of society in our day.

Young amateur musicians, those up to the ages of 21, now number approximately 17,100, 600 in the United States, whereas adult amateurs number 20,800,000. This was an increase of more than 1 1/2 million over the previous year for the youngsters, and about 700,000 for the adults. Credit is given to new methods and philosophies in music teaching, more leisure time for adults, and the growing awareness by parents and educators that music belongs in the lives of young people, and contributes to their well-roundedness.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a source of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

OVERWEIGHT TEENAGERS

Just recently, I read an article written by an outstanding doctor saying that one out of ten teen-agers is overweight. He says that the reason is that these overweight teen-agers have had eating habits—too many ice cream sundaes, candy bars, soft drinks, and lack of exercise.

The overweight teenager is more likely to develop at an early age some form of ill health.

the size of the serving in common measure, such as ounces or cups or table-spoons must be given.

QUICK DESSERTS

No time to make dessert for company? Buy a cheese cake in the dairy section of your supermarket. Spread strawberry pie filling on top and garnish with puffs of whipped cream and chopped nuts.

Another quick dessert which a young homemaker, Brenda Youngblood, told me about calls for pie filling, 1/2 box of white cake mix, one stick of oleo and chopped nuts. Here is the way it is put together.

Four the pie filling in the pie dish, sift the cake mix onto the filling and pack,

Dot with the oleo and sprinkle on pecans. Bake for 30 minutes in an oven 350 degrees. Serve with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

FREEZER CONTAINERS

Not just every type of freezer material is air tight. So, don't let poor cover boxes designed for freezing ruin the food you store.

If you use plastic freezer bags, why not buy the cover boxes designed for protecting the bags. They can be stored more easily, saving space in the freezer, and they prevent tears in the plastic bags.

FREEZER STORAGE

When choosing wrapping materials for the freezer such as foil, plastic bags, etc., be sure your foil is moisture-vapor proof. Not all foils are moisture-vapor proof. There is only one foil on the market that meets this qualification.

Bread wrappers are not air tight and therefore, will not keep bread fresh in the freezer for more than 2 or 3 weeks.

CHICKEN

A problem that plagues many chicken - buying homemakers is whether to choose the inexpensive whole fryer or to splurge on the pieces the family likes best. The real question is whether that whole fryer is so inexpensive if much of it is going to be discarded.

Consider one serving as three ounces of cooked lean meat and compare the costs of a cost-per-serving basis. Whole fryers generally give one and one-third servings per pound. For fryer breasts, figure four servings per pound and for legs, three servings per pound.

When whole fryers are on special at 29 cents a pound, you can be just as thrifty buying breasts at 88 cents and legs and thighs at 40 cents per pound.

If whole fryers are selling for 35 cents a pound, breasts are an equal buy at $1.06 per pound and legs and thighs are just as economical at 79 cents.

4-H RECORDS

This last week Sandra Downman, 4-H'er from Mr. Pleasant, came to our office to work on her 4-H Record Book. Virginia Sanders, Extension Home Agent was so pleased to see that Sandra had added much to her record. Sandra's interest in 4-H and nutrition, although she has accomplished a great deal in clothing.

Sandra said that she did not want to get behind in her record keeping so that next year when time comes to enter contests, hers would be up-to-date.

LUVERNE GAME BEGINS AT 8 P.M.
Elba Tigers Defeat
Brantley 34-0

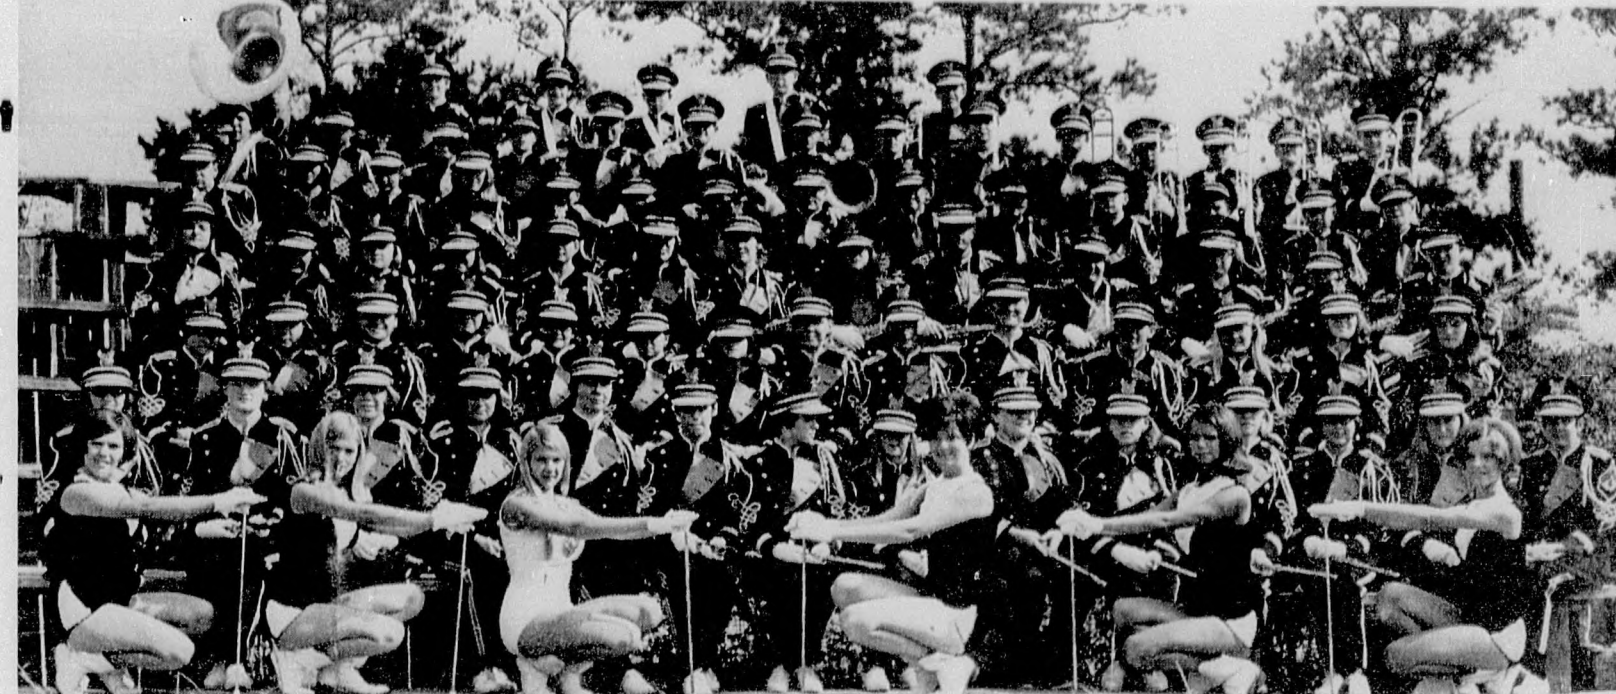

The Elba Tigers scored every quarter behind Quarterback Johnny Sharpless last Friday night to beat the Brantley eleven 34 to 0 in the season opener for both teams.

Touchdowns were scored by Donnie Holley (3) Dean Smith (1) and Brice Paul (1). A beautiful scoring pass play from Sharpless to Johnny Martin was called back due to a minor infraction of the rules.

The Elba Tigers gained 305 yards while Brantley gained only 62. Elba chalked up 15 first downs to Brantley's six and Sharpless completed 11 out of 18 passes. The Tigers punted only twice in the second half and averaged 35 1/2 yards on those.

The Tigers meet Luverne in Luverne this Friday night in what promises to be a closer game than the Brantley game. Luverne handed the Elba Tigers their first two defeats last season and have started their season well with a thorough whipping of Georgiana last week.

Coach Akins stated Tuesday night that he felt the Elba team was in fair shape with Joel Martin to possibly see action this week and Johnny Martin's ankle is improving even though he probably will not be in full speed Friday night.
